The 2020 Nobel Peace Prize was given to the World Food Programme, WFP for short. The news was announced on October 9th. WFP is an organization run by the United Nations to provide emergency help to people who don't have enough food. It is helping people during this very difficult time. In 2020, the coronavirus disease led to a rise in the number of people facing starvation.

Berit Reiss-Andersen leads the Norwegian Nobel Committee. She says the committee wants to "turn the eyes of the world towards the millions of people who suffer from or face the danger of hunger." WFP works mainly in places affected by war or other problems. In 2019, it provided food to 97 million people in 88 countries. The group estimates that 690 million people globally are suffering from hunger. David Beasley, who leads WFP, said there's no hope for a peaceful planet if people are hungry.

Ted: Hi, Seiko. Why are you carrying vegetables instead of putting them in a plastic bag?

Seiko: Well, nowadays, supermarkets in Japan don't give us free plastic bags anymore.

That's why. I could have bought one, but I decided not to because I had no small change with me.

Ted: I see. Haven't you tried cashless payments, yet? It's a convenient system in a situation like that. But I think it's a good idea not to buy plastic bags because they are very harmful to the environment.

Seiko: Oh, why is that?

Ted: I've read an article about them and found that, every year, many sea animals die because they either mistake the bags for food or get caught up in them and drown.

Seiko: Wow, that's very sad. Maybe we should go back to using paper bags again.

Ted: Well, that isn't a very good idea, either. It takes four times as much energy to manufacture paper bags, compared with plastic ones. Also, material for paper comes from trees, so making paper bags will lead to the destruction of forests.

Seiko: Now you are talking like a researcher, aren't you?

Ted: Well, I majored in environmental protection in university.

Seiko: So Ted, what should we use when shopping in supermarkets?

Ted: Reusable bags! I always carry one with me.
