Today is April 1st. Don't listen to your friends when they say school's closed for a week. And don't believe everything you see on TV and the Internet. It's April Fool's Day.

April Fool's Day probably began in the 1500s in France when New Year's Day moved from April 1st to January 1st. There wasn't any TV or Internet then, so some people didn't know about this change. Anyone who still ^{*1}celebrated New Year's Day on April 1st was called a fool.

Playing jokes on April 1st became popular, and in the 1700s, this ^{*2}spread to England, ^{*3}Scotland, and the USA. Today, people celebrate April Fool's Day in many countries. News shows and Internet pages enjoy the fun, too.

A British TV station has made many April Fool's jokes. In 1980, reporters said that Big Ben, the famous clock in London, had a new ^{*4}digital face. Everyone was angry until the ^{*5}reporters told them it was an April Fool's joke.
